JUDD BUILDING RECEPTION

Opportunity for Seeing the Interior and Riding Skyward.

Gear, Lansing & Co.'s Elegant Quarters — Fire
Escape Provided — Grandson of Dr.
Judd Has Office Reserved.

Many ladies and gentlemen explored the Judd building, at the public reception Monday afternoon. Expressions of admiration for the comfortable and commodious offices on every floor made a continuous buzz. The ride to the fourth story in the elevator was a treat—some style about it too, with the attendant boy in neat uniform.

There are many fine views of city, country and sea from the higher windows. A staunch and safe fire escape in the angle of the building in rear was something new to many.

Besides the Bank of Hawaii's staff, Gear, Lansing & Co. and W. O. Smith were found at home. Mr. Smith, just escaped from six years' turlow to his "bleeding" country, rejoiced that he was once more his own master. All of the early statesmen of the country. A suite of offices is reserved in the building for his son Allan, when he returns home a full-fledged lawyer next summer.

The Chief Justice regards the building bearing his family name as a monument to his long departed father, Dr. G. P. Judd, one of the early statesmen of the country. A suite of offices is reserved in the building for his son Allan, when he returns home a full-fledged lawyer next summer.

Gear, Lansing & Co. have an elegant and well-appointed office on the ground floor, opening to the right off the main entrance from Fort street. The outer door opens upon a vestibule with tessellated marble floor, which brings one up to the front office screen. This is in bank style of bronze open work and glass with wickets for cashier, etc. Swinging doors lead from the front office into the private room of the chief partners, which is also entered from the main hallway at the back of the elevator. Behind the room just mentioned is a large rectangular apartment furnished for a board room. This occupies a single story annex by itself within the angle of the building's L shaped ground plan, and it is well lighted and ventilated with a large skylight and ventilators in the roof and small glazed portholes near the ceiling. A souz and sequestered corner in the front office is furnished in parlor style as a reception and waiting room. The furniture throughout harmonizes with the general elegance of the apartments.

On the ground floor, Merchant street side, in line with the Bank of Hawaii, is a large suite of offices occupied by the Honolulu Investment Co. It is well furnished for its business.

North American Review's New Editor.

George B. McClellan Harvey, New York capitalist and editor, who has purchased the North American Review for $225,000 and has assumed editorial charge of the publication, is only 35 years old, and a few years ago was a reporter working hard for a small salary. He was born in Vermont of Scotch descent and got a grammar school education. When Harvey was only 15 he was already writing for the daily papers. At 18 he secured a place as reporter on the Springfield Republican and was one year on the local staff of the Chicago Daily News. When 21 he came to New York and began to work as a reporter on the World. He rose from that position to be managing editor of the paper at 25, and editor-in-chief at 26. Resigning because of poor health, he did not return to newspaper work, but entered the industrial field and built several electrical railways. Among other properties he owns the Newark, N. J., Daily Advertiser. He is the president of several electrical railway concerns in the vicinity of New York, and last year acquired the street railways of Havana. The North American Review was founded in 1816, and is, perhaps, the leading American magazine of its kind.

Easter-ide Millinery.

Mrs. Naphthaly's, Millinery Parlor No. 532, Fort street, (Love Building), will be opened for the inspection of the ladies of Honolulu on Thursday, March 24, and will continue for the rest of the week. By the Australia Mrs. Naphthaly received a full line of Easter goods especially selected for this market and she feels satisfied in announcing that her selections are of an order equal to any in the market. In the line of trimmed hats she has gems to offer, and her stock of Children's, Sailor, and Walking Hats cannot be excelled for quality, beauty and price. All she asks is an inspection of her stock on the part of the ladies of Honolulu, who have heretofore honored her with their patronage.

Russian Troops Arriving.

London, March 10.—A dispatch from Allahabad, capital of the northwest province of India, says it is reported there from Yarkand, Chinese Turkestan, that a large force of Russian troops has arrived at the Russian post, Fort Murghabi, on the Murghabi river, in the Sari (Great) Pamir, with the intention of seizing Sir i Kol, the hundred-mile stretch of territory north of the Mustagh mountains, which was left undefined by the Pamir Boundary Commission in 1895. Its seizure by Russia will cause complications with Germany.

The Last Car.

The last cars of the King street line going to Waikiki and Palama pass the Anchor Saloon. The cleverest mixologists in the city are there always to put you up anything you may desire. Drop in and take a drop before you take the car. The celebrated Seattle beer is to be had here on draught. A full line of liquors including the famous A. A. Jesse Moore Whisky etc., always on hand. The most exacting and varied demands can be satisfied. The Anchor Saloon is here to please its patrons.

"I can say one thing for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; and that is that it excels any proprietary medicine I have seen on the market, and I have been in the practice of medicine and the drug business for the past forty years," writes J. M. Jackson, M. D., Bronson, Fla. Physicians like Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy because it is a scientific preparation, and because it always gives quick relief.
